It is Ogden City policy that all volunteers who want to work with vulnerable populations that includes children under age 18, senior citizens ages 60 or older and or persons with physical or mental disabilities must give Ogden City permission to conduct a criminal background check and provide residency verification for last 10 years. Misrepresentation or omission of facts will result in disqualification of your application to volunteer.

Do you give Ogden City permission to conduct a criminal background check? _____ If so, please fill out and sign the release of personal information, form #1.

Automatic disqualification: An applicant shall be disqualified to work with vulnerable populations on behalf of the Department if he/she has ever been sanctioned for any criminal conduct described as follows

1. Any crimes against minors, seniors or persons with disabilities
2. Any felony conviction involving violence
3. Any sexual offense
4. Any felony conviction within prior 7 years
5. Any criminal offense that is drug related within 3 prior years
6. Any criminal offense that is alcohol related, including DUI, within the prior year
7. More than two criminal offences that are drug or alcohol related, including DUI within 5 Prior years

Discretionary Disqualification: An applicant may be disqualified to work with vulnerable populations of behalf of the Department, at the reasonable discretion of the supervising division manager, if any of the following circumstances exist:

1. Applicant has been sanctioned for one or more criminal offenses not described in the section on automatic disqualification and the offense(s) reasonably raises the possibility of risk of neglect, abuse, harm or detriment to vulnerable populations if the same offense(s) or similar conduct were repeated in the presence of the vulnerable populations that applicant will be working with.
2. Applicant has a history of conduct know to the Department of unprofessional, dishonest, unethical, unsportsmanlike, rule-breaking, reckless, or other inappropriate behavior, or violation of court orders, which in the view of the Department demonstrate that vulnerable populations will not be well-served by supervised interaction with or mentoring by application.

Do you have a criminal history or any conduct that would prevent you from working as a volunteer coach in our youth program as described above? Yes _____ No _____

If yes, please explain _____

Coaches Code of Conduct

- I will place the emotional and physical well-being of my players ahead of a Personal desire to win.
- I will treat each player as an individual, remembering the large range of emotional and physical development for the same group.
- I will do my best to provide a safe playing situation for my players.
- I will promise to review and practice basic first aid principles needed to treat injuries of my players.
- I will do my best to organize practices that are fun and challenging for all my players.
- I will lead by example in demonstrating fair play and sportsmanship to all my players.
- I will be knowledgeable in the rules of each sport that I coach, and I will teach these rules to my players.
- I will use those coaching techniques appropriate for all of the skills that I teach.
- I will remember that I am a youth sports coach, and that the game is for children and not adults

Ogden Police Record Division

The above named individual is in the process of employment and/or volunteering for Ogden City.

A Criminal History Review needs to be conducted by the Ogden Police Records Division before HR can approve them for hire or to volunteer. Under the Rights of Access Policy, the subject must appear in person and request a copy of their record. In order to complete the HR process, please waive the $10 fee associated with the Right of Access Policy.

Please contact our office at 801-629-8730 with any questions or concerns.

Sincerely,

Ogden City Corporation
Human Resources Division

A Summary of Your Rights Under the Fair Credit Reporting Act

The federal Fair Credit Reporting Act (FCRA) promotes the accuracy, fairness, and privacy of information in the files of consumer reporting agencies. There are many types of consumer reporting agencies, including credit bureaus and specialty agencies (such as agencies that sell information about check writing histories, medical records, and rental history records). Here is a summary of your major rights under FCRA. For more information, including information about additional rights, go to www.consumerfinance.gov/learnmore or write to: Consumer Financial Protection Bureau, 1700 G Street N.W., Washington, DC 20552.

- You must be told if information in your file has been used against you. Anyone who uses a credit report or another type of consumer report to deny your application for credit, insurance, or employment – or to take another adverse action against you – must tell you, and must give you the name, address, and phone number of the agency that provided the information.
- You have the right to know what is in your file. You may request and obtain all the information about you in the files of a consumer reporting agency (your “file disclosure”). You will be required to provide proper identification, which may include your Social Security number. In many cases, the disclosure will be free. You are entitled to a free file disclosure if:
  - a person has taken adverse action against you because of information in your credit report;
  - you are the victim of identity theft and place a fraud alert in your file;
  - your file contains inaccurate information as a result of fraud;
  - you are on public assistance;
  - you are unemployed but expect to apply for employment within 60 days.

In addition, all consumers are entitled to one free disclosure every 12 months upon request from each nationwide credit bureau and from nationwide specialty consumer reporting agencies. See www.consumerfinance.gov/learnmore for additional information.

- You have the right to ask for a credit score. Credit scores are numerical summaries of your credit-worthiness based on information from credit bureaus. You may request a credit score from consumer reporting agencies that create scores or distribute scores used in residential real property loans, but you will have to pay for it. In some mortgage transactions, you will receive credit score information for free from the mortgage lender.
- You have the right to dispute incomplete or inaccurate information. If you identify information in your file that is incomplete or inaccurate, and report it to the consumer reporting agency, the agency must investigate unless your dispute is frivolous. See www.consumerfinance.gov/learnmore for an explanation of dispute procedures.

- Consumer reporting agencies must correct or delete inaccurate, incomplete, or unverifiable information. Inaccurate, incomplete, or unverifiable information must be removed or corrected, usually within 30 days. However, a consumer reporting agency may continue to report information it has verified as accurate.
- Consumer reporting agencies may not report outdated negative information. In most cases, a consumer reporting agency may not report negative information that is more than seven years old, or bankruptcies that are more than 10 years old.
- Access to your file is limited. A consumer reporting agency may provide information about you only to people with a valid need – usually to consider an application with a creditor, insurer, employer, landlord, or other business. The FCRA specifies those with a valid need for access.
- You must give your consent for reports to be provided to employers. A consumer reporting agency may not give out information about you to your employer, or a potential employer, without your written consent given to the employer. Written consent generally is not required in the trucking industry. For more information, go to www.consumerfinance.gov/learnmore.
- You may limit “prescreened” offers of credit and insurance you get based on information in your credit report. Unsolicited “prescreened” offers for credit and insurance must include a toll-free phone number you can call if you choose to remove your name and address from the lists these offers are based on. You may opt out with the nationwide credit bureaus at 1-888-5-OPTOUT (1-888-567-8688).
- The following FCRA right applies with respect to nationwide consumer reporting agencies:

CONSUMERS HAVE THE RIGHT TO OBTAIN A SECURITY FREEZE

You have a right to place a “security freeze” on your credit report, which will prohibit a consumer reporting agency from releasing information in your credit report without your express authorization. The security freeze is designed to prevent credit, loans, and services from being approved in your name without your consent. However, you should be aware that using a security freeze to take control over who gets access to the personal and financial information in your credit report may delay, interfere with, or prohibit the timely approval of any subsequent request or application you make regarding a new loan, credit, mortgage, or any other account involving the extension of credit.

As an alternative to a security freeze, you have the right to place an initial or extended fraud alert on your credit file at no cost. An initial fraud alert is a 1-year alert that is placed on a consumer's credit file. Upon seeing a fraud alert display on a consumer's credit file, a business is required to take steps to verify the consumer's identity before extending new credit. If you are a victim of identity theft, you are entitled to an extended fraud alert, which is a fraud alert lasting 7 years.

A security freeze does not apply to a person or entity, or its affiliates, or collection agencies acting on behalf of the person or entity, with which you have an existing account that requests information in your credit report for the purposes of reviewing or collecting the account. Reviewing the account includes activities related to account maintenance, monitoring, credit line increases, and account upgrades and enhancements.

- You may seek damages from violators. If a consumer reporting agency, or, in some cases, a user of consumer reports or a furnisher of information to a consumer reporting agency violates the FCRA, you may be able to sue in state or federal court.
- Identity theft victims and active duty military personnel have additional rights. For more information, visit www.consumerfinance.gov/learnmore.

States may enforce the FCRA, and many states have their own consumer reporting laws. In some cases, you may have more rights under state law. For more information, contact your state or local consumer protection agency or your state Attorney General. For information about your federal rights, contact:
